

CHARLES W. BROWN SHOT

Commissioner Killed in His Office

by Ambrose Hurley

MURDERER FLED FROM THE BUILDING

LATER COMMITTED SUICIDE

Tragedy Was Enacted While A Dozen People Were In the Building—Mr. Brown Sat Dictating Letters When His Assailant Walked To the Office Door and Fired Fatal Shot

At 4:25 o'clock Saturday afternoon Ambrose Hurley shot and instantly killed Charles W. Brown at his offices in the Scott block.

Hurley fired two shots, then fled from the building, entered a waiting carriage and was driven away. Ten minutes later Hurley at his boarding house on East Court street fired a bullet into his own brain and died.

The awful tragedy was enacted in the Scott block while people were moving in and out in the ordinary course of business. Scores of people were passing the building with the usual Saturday rush. Two shots were heard and a man was seen coming down from the stairway. He walked rapidly to a waiting carriage and was driven hurriedly north in the alley west of the Scott building. The man was Ambrose Hurley, formerly chief of police and for many years at intermittent times an employe of the city in the water and light departments. The driver of the carriage was Charles Dalrymple and as Hurley stepped into the carriage he said to Dalrymple: "Drive rapidly." After proceeding a block or two Hurley leaned from the carriage window and showing the end of his revolver said to Dalrymple: "Drive fast or I'll shoot you in the back." The desperate appearance of the man which had not before been remarked by Dalrymple and the weapon which he carried had the desired effect and in three minutes' time Hurley had been landed at his boarding house, 328 East Court street.

Dalrymple did not know the meaning of the incident but drove as rapidly as possible to the Woods barn and reported the threatening manner of Hurley and then drove immediately over to the Scott block. Meanwhile the news of the tragedy had been circulated and a speedy notice was sent to the chief of police and the entire force and deputy sheriffs were immediately started in quest of Hurley, some on foot and others in automobiles, the first impression being that he tried to escape to the open country. The order was "capture the murderer, dead or alive." Ten minutes later, however, came the definite information that Hurley had died by his own hand. Captain E. C. Taylor and Miss Grace Wharton were in the office when Hurley appeared at the door and fired the fatal shots.

Mr. Brown had just finished dictating a letter to his stenographer, Miss Grace Wharton. He was getting ready to proceed with another letter when Hurley appeared at the threshold. Brown was facing him and as he looked up Hurley muttering said: "You can't break it off into me any longer," fired a shot which struck very near to Mr. Brown's heart. He had strength enough, however, to raise himself from his chair, reeled forward and instinctively sought to flee from his assailant. He ran north across the hall, a distance of eight or ten feet to the office of Wm. E. Thomson. He opened the door and was starting inside when Hurley fired another shot which, however, went wild. The first shot, however, was so near the heart that Mr. Brown never spoke a word and life was extinct in one minute's time.

Doctors King, Black, Woltman and Hardesty were in the offices within five minutes' time. A speedy examination of the wounded man, however, was sufficient to show that he was beyond all medical aid and death was almost instantaneous.

Coroner Skinner was notified and the broken body was taken to the Reynolds undertaking room.

Hurley sent a bullet crashing through his own brain two minutes after he had reached his room in his boarding house.

Hurley was about forty years old and for fifteen years had been a familiar figure about Jacksonville. For years he had been an employe in various city departments and had for long periods been in the employ of Mr. Brown. For nearly a year ago when on drunken sprees he had given evidence of an unfriendly feeling for Mr. Brown, who had often befriended him. In these drunken debauches he sometimes worked him self up to a condition of ferocity and only a month ago he is known to have made threats against the life of Mr. Brown. At that time after his drunken spree friends of Mr. Brown warned him and it is understood that Mr. Brown and Hurley with one or two friends present as witnesses held a short conference.

Friday Hurley is reported to have visited several hardware stores in vain effort to purchase a revolver. However, he showed such apparent signs of drinking that he met with refusals. It is also said that he spent a great deal of time yesterday in driving about the city. And there are those who say that he frequently threatened the life of Mr. Brown and averred that it would be only a question of time until he finally "got" him. A terrible crime has been committed. An official of the community, a man useful in his profession and in the very prime of life has been ruthlessly shot down. The murderer, a man without character, who for years has been almost a care upon the community, has ended his own life, and thus in a few words is written the record of one of the most awful crimes in all the history of Jacksonville and Morgan county.

FIRST AT SCENE.

The first to be at Mr. Brown's side other than his office assistants, after the shooting, were Judge M. T. Layman, Judge Charles A. Barnes and E. P. Johnston, who were in Mr. Layman's office when the first report was heard. Judge Layman's office is in the same building, only a few doors east of Commissioner Brown's office. Judge Layman said when interviewed:

"I heard one shot fired and some person screamed and immediately another shot was heard. I went at once to the door of my office and turned in the direction from which the report came and saw Ambrose Hurley standing with his back to me near the door of Attorney Thomson's office, where Mr. Brown was found. Just then Hurley turned facing me and had his pistol in hand presented in a position for firing. He came meeting me and turned to the left of me and I passed him, going on to see what the trouble was.

"I found Charles Brown lying in William E. Thomson's office under a small table. Judge Barnes came in to the office next and we lifted the table from over him. Dr. King arrived promptly and after examining the body, pronounced him dead. Hurley made some remark to me as he passed me in the hall but I failed to catch what he said. As soon as I learned that Commissioner Brown was shot I called the police headquarters and told them that Hurley had started to the Wabash depot in a hack."

Only One Shot Took Effect.

Hurley fired two shots but only one took effect, entering the body of Brown in the left side a few inches below the arm pit passing on through to the right side just above the hip. The second shot that was fired lodged in the door casing near where Brown was lying on the floor. It was evidently aimed at him after he had fallen.

Dr. Allen M. King and Bert Zaver were in Dr. King's office across the street when the firing took place. Upon hearing the report they hurried at once across the street. At the same moment Miss Grace Wharton, stenographer for Mr. Brown, called to Dr. King from the window of Brown's office to come that Mr. Brown was shot. Dr. King went at once to the injured man, lying on the floor in Thomson's office. He shook the body slightly and called near the door of Attorney Thomson's injured man uttered only a dying gasp.

Hurley Was Deliberate.

After the shooting Hurley walked deliberately from the office down into the street to his carriage and ordered the driver to take him to his home. S. Cafky, whose upholstery establishment is just below Brown's office, and Peter Eyles, an employe of the same place, were standing at the door of the stairway when Hurley came down and got in his carriage and drove away. They say that he did not seem to be disturbed over the deed he had committed but walked in his usual leisurely manner to the carriage and was driven away.

It is evident that Hurley had the shooting on his mind a few days before it took place. It is known that he tried to purchase a revolver at Gay's hardware store Friday but the clerk refused to sell it to him, as the man was in a drunken condition. He is said to have told some of his friends several days before that he intended to "get even."

Dr. King Heard Shot.

Dr. Allen M. King when interviewed said: "I was sitting in my office with Bert Zaver when the shot was fired. I at once jumped up and started to run across the street. Miss Grace Wharton at the same time called to me to hurry, as Mr. Brown was shot. I found Mr. Brown lying on the floor in William E. Thomson's office. I looked at him, shook the body slightly and said 'Charles,' but there was no response. In a moment Mr. Brown gasped and I saw that he was dead. Judge Barnes, Judge Layman and E. P. Johnston were there also at the time and soon others came into the room. I covered the face with a towel and soon the ambulance came and we removed the body to the undertaking parlors."

Bert Zaver was in the office of Dr. Allen M. King at the time of the shooting. When interviewed he gave the following story of the shooting:

Miss Wharton Called Help.

"I was in Dr. King's office when I heard the first shot. I thought that it was the fire of an automobile exploding. Then I heard another shot and a woman's scream. I rushed out of the office and Miss Wharton was running to the window of Charles Brown's office with her hands to her ears crying 'Help, come at once.' My first thought was an explosion and I ran around a right in front of the building and started up the stairway and saw James Pyatt standing there, said 'come on' and we ran up stairs. Some one passed me coming down as I went up. I did not notice who it was but was told afterward that in all probability it was Hurley. I went into the room, where Mr. Brown lay. The body rested with the head toward the west wall and feet near the door. Some one yelled 'get a doctor quick.' I went to the head of the stairs and called to James Pyatt to get Dr. King across the street. I turned around and saw Dr. King just inside the door. I heard Dr. King then say 'It's too late.'"

William E. Thomson's Story.

Attorney William E. Thomson was up at Dr. H. L. Griswold's office at the time of the shooting. In telling his story Attorney Thomson said: "I was in Dr. Griswold's office, second building west. I heard the two shots and some one screaming. I ran down to my office to see what was the matter. At the same time Dr. T. O. Hardesty went down and we both went up together. When I got there Dr. Allen King and Dr. H. C. Wolfman were in the room. Mr. Brown was lying just inside the door along the south wall, my office being room 1 of the Scott block, and the door just across the hall from Mr. Brown's office. Mr. Brown was lying on his back with his head to the west, with his feet even of the door jamb. His left hand was touching the floor and his right hand was resting on his hip. His eyes and mouth were partly open. He had fallen under a little stand table which had been removed before I arrived there. The doctors detected a slight pulse and at the request of Dr. King I went across to his office and got a hypodermic syringe and when I got back all signs of life had departed."

"I haven't seen Hurley up in Brown's office since about the first of March. He used to come up to the office quite frequently to see Mr. Brown and while waiting for him would come in my office. During all the times I have seen him up there he has always displayed a friendly feeling toward Mr. Brown. I know that Mr. Brown had seen very kind to him, giving him work and doing him lots of favors."

"The second shot fired by Hurley struck the west jamb of my office door, the path of the bullet ranging towards the west and slightly downward. It looks as though it must have been fired at Mr. Brown as he was falling, or else that Mr. Hurley must have been very close to him at the time of firing the shot."

Says He Heard Three Shots.

E. P. Johnston, who was in the office of Judge M. T. Layman at the time the first shot was fired, contends that he heard three shots fired. When interviewed last evening Mr. Johnston said:

"I was sitting in the chair toward the rear of Judge Layman's office when I heard a shot, followed immediately by what appeared to be a woman's scream. I supposed that it was but a lot of young people in some office having fun. I was not even sure that it was a revolver. Then came the second shot and another scream, again by a woman, and appearing to indicate that she had been hurt. Not until after this second shot and cry did I leave my chair and sprang toward the door. The third shot came just before I reached the door. Stepping into the hall I saw Ambrose Hurley walking from Mr. Thomson's office, diagonally across the hall toward the stairs. He had a revolver in his hand and was looking at it, and I supposed that he had just taken it away from some young person, whom he had seen discharging it in fun. He put the revolver in his pocket and deliberately walked down the stairs. I have never seen him when he appeared to me more deliberate or more thoroughly at himself. I did not watch him continuing down the stairs for I ran to my and Mr. Thomson's room to see what had really occurred. I saw Mr. Brown lying on the floor, and not knowing that he was dead, I ran to the phone in Charles Dickson's office, called central and told her that C. W. Brown had been shot and badly wounded and that she should call a number of doctors as quickly as she could and tell them all to come at once to the Scott building."

I am informed that others who were present all say that but two shots were fired, and I am very different about asserting positively as I have, that there were three shots. But the circumstances at least appear to be so clearly impressed upon my mind that I do not see how I could possibly be mistaken about the matter."

Saw Mr. Brown Fall.

Judge Charles A. Barnes, who was in the office of Judge Layman at the time of the shooting, gives perhaps the most vivid description of the tragedy, aside from Miss Wharton and Capt. E. C. Taylor, who were with Mr. Brown in the office when the first shot was fired. Judge Barnes when asked to give his story of the shooting said:

"I was holding a conference with Judge Layman in his office about some court matters and the door from his office into the hall was open. I heard the noise of a shot and said to Judge Layman 'there goes somebody's auto tire,' thinking that a tire had blown up in the street. About that time I heard a woman in the building scream and we both ran for the door. When I got into the hall, the first thing I saw was Ambrose Hurley walking from Charles Brown's office towards the stairway. He raised his hand and I saw a revolver in it pointed toward the door of William T. Thomson's office. He fired his revolver and turned and walked down the stairs. I saw a man standing just inside the door of Attorney Thomson's office facing Hurley, who as soon as the shot was fired fell backward on the floor. It all occurred so quickly that I did not know at that time who the man was. I at once ran to his side and as I raised his head I saw that it was Charles Brown. He showed no sign of life in any way. Judge Layman and myself raised him up and put a chair cushion under his head. About that moment Dr. King came in and after a hurried examination pronounced him dead. Shortly after other doctors came and proceeded to clear the room."

Miss Wharton's Story.

When asked about the tragedy Saturday night, Miss Grace Wharton, stenographer for Mr. Brown, gave substantially the following story:

"I was just finishing the correspondence for the afternoon and asked Mr. Brown about an address for a letter when Hurley appeared in the doorway. As he often came into the office at that time in the afternoon I thought nothing about it and was just about to speak to him, when he muttered something, drew a revolver from either his coat or hip pocket and fired at Mr. Brown, who was not three feet away. I got up and started to run to the back room of the office and when the assailant fired the second shot, I turned just in time to see Mr. Brown fall against the door of Mr. Thomson's office. I went to the window in the back office room and saw a crowd of people in the street. Recognizing Dr. King, I called him and when someone told me to leave the office I went into the room occupied by Mrs. Allen, who conducts a hair dressing parlor, and on arriving there I was completely overcome and fell to the floor."

"It was only a few minutes after the shooting took place until the hall was full of people and Mrs. Brown, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thompson of Lafayette avenue and daughter, came in shortly after. They were brought into Mrs. Allen's office, where Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Thompson fainting. I didn't go back into the office until everything was quieted down and then, only to get my things, after which I came home in a carriage. Just a few minutes before the tragedy Mr. Brown said that he was going out to Illinois college for an hour, but he evidently thought of something else, he wanted to do before leaving the office. Mr. Brown did not utter a word from the time he was shot. Miss Wharton is in a very nervous condition as a result of witnessing the tragedy."

Barber Says Hurley Was Nervous.

George Pierson, who conducts a barber shop on East Court street, where Hurley was shaved Saturday afternoon, told the following when interviewed by a reporter Saturday night:

"Hurley entered my shop this afternoon, about 2 o'clock and as I was busy at the time he took a chair on the west side of the room. He hadn't been here very long until he asked me to let down the vacant barber's chair so that he could lay down in it and he seemed very nervous. When R. F. Ghunt, a barber employed in my shop, returned Hurley got in his chair and called for a shave, and as he was so nervous it took quite a while to shave him. I talked with him for a while and our conversation was regarding the time he took the office of chief of police. He said that the reason he took that position was because he had a promise and a pledge made to him, but he didn't state what the promise was. He did not appear to be drinking, but as he was so nervous, I am of the opinion that he was not in his right mind. When he left here he started up toward the square."

ORDERED CARRIAGE BY TELEPHONE.

Hurley Sent Message to Woods Barn for Conveyance.

L. W. Woods, proprietor of the carriage line from which Hurley secured his carriage, gave the following facts to a reporter Saturday night:

"About 12:30 to day Hurley called the barn and ordered a carriage, but we did not have any at the time. Charles Corrinson was here with me and we went to Hurley's boarding house for him in my automobile. When we drove up to the house Hurley raised the curtain and said that he would be out in a few minutes and when he came out said that he wanted to go to a barber shop, remarking that the one near our barn would do. We took him to the shop and when he got out he said that he would be over to the barn in a few minutes. He came back and we took him over to Enfield's pool room, where he told me that he would send in a call later for a carriage."

"That was the last I saw of him, but later an order was received from him for a carriage. Charles Dalrymple went on the call and took Hurley to the Scott block, where he got out and told Dalrymple to leave the door of the carriage open and to drive down the alley to his boarding house when he came out. Dalrymple heard the shots and called someone from the court house and told them to go up into the building. Hurley then rushed into the carriage and with his gun pointed at Dalrymple's back told him to drive fast and get him home in a hurry."

THINK MURDER PREMEDITATED

JURY BELIEVED C. W. BROWN'S SLAYER HAD PLANS WELL OUTLINED.

Several Witnesses Testify Before Coroner's Venueemen at Brown Inquest—Dalymphe Drove Carriage at Point of Gun For Ambrose Hurley.

Coroner G. V. Skinner held an inquest at the court house Saturday evening at 8 o'clock over the remains of Charles W. Brown. Charles J. Ratachak acted as foreman, and the juryment gave in a verdict that the "deceased came to his death by a bullet wound fired from a 38-calibre revolver, which entered the body between the fourth and fifth rib on the left side. This shot was fired by one, Ambrose Hurley, with murderous intent, and we further think it was premeditated."

Those who testified before the jury included Judge Charles A. Barnes, Judge M. T. Layman, Capt. Frank C. Taylor, Charles Dalymphe, E. M. Henderson, E. F. Johnston, Dr. A. M. King and Charles H. Elliott. The witnesses were closely questioned as to the details of the tragedy. Judge Charles A. Barnes happened to be in the Scott Block at the time of the shooting in consultation with Judge M. T. Layman as was also E. F. Johnston. They were among the first to arrive at Brown's office before Hurley had left the building, but were not eyewitnesses of the shooting. Capt. C. F. Taylor and Miss Grace Wharton were the only two who saw Hurley enter the office and commit the deed. All bear record that he acted with composure while he was in the building and even those who passed him in the stairway and hallway did not notice anything unusual about him.

Charles Dalymphe, the carriage driver, gave a detail account of how Hurley had hired the carriage, from the Star Lunch room and gave explicit orders of the route to be taken. After the shooting Mr. Dalymphe carried out the wishes of murderer, part of the time at the point of the revolver.

The jury empanelled was as follows:

Charles J. Ratachak, foreman.
W. M. Carroll.
William Nunes.
J. W. Hamilton.
George W. Scott.
W. W. Walker, clerk.

The following are the facts of the testimony in the case.

Mr. Taylor's testimony was as follows:

"I have, for six years been bookkeeper and accountant in Mr. Brown's office. I think it was 4:15 this afternoon and Mr. Brown was sitting at his desk near the entrance to his office. He was dictating letters to Miss Grace Wharton, and was facing west toward the door, which was open. I was standing south in the room, examining some blue prints on a line. Hearing some footsteps in the doorway, I turned toward the left and looked toward the door. I saw standing in the door Ambrose Hurley, who was well known to me, and as I looked I saw the flash of a revolver and heard the report. Hurley was standing, I should judge, less than three feet from Mr. Brown when he shot. As soon as the report of the revolver was heard, Mr. Brown hurriedly arose to his feet and went north across the hallway into the office of Wm. E. Thomson. Mr. Brown had not more than half passed through the door when Hurley fired again. The bullet apparently did not strike Mr. Brown, as it is now imbedded in the door casing, about 35 inches from the floor.

"Mr. Brown fell toward the west as soon as he reached Thomson's room, landing on his back. Hurley then disappeared from view and, I suppose, went downstairs. After the second shot was fired I followed Mr. Brown into Thomson's office and approached him and took hold of his hand. As I did so he turned his eyes toward me and gave a gasp and was, in my judgment, dead. As I followed him over, I called out the window to Dr. Volkman; who came up into the office. Miss Wharton, who was taking dictation from Mr. Brown, was seated at her typewriter, not more than six feet from him as the fatal shot was fired. She screamed and ran into the front room and called to Dr. Allen King, across the street and he immediately came up into the office. I heard some conversation, but was not sure what was said. I know of nothing that had happened in the past that would lead to the shooting. As far as I know Hurley has not been in the office for over a week. There was no warning given before the shooting; no conversation on Mr. Brown's part.

Dr. Allen M. King.

Dr. King's testimony was as follows. Around the hour of 4:20 p. m., May 25, 1912, I was sitting in my office and heard report which sounded to me as if it were a pistol. I jumped up and as I got on my feet I heard a second shot. I ran out the front door, looked across the street and saw Miss Grace Wharton with her hands over her head and acting as if she was very much frightened. I then ran across the street in the direction of Charles W. Brown's office. When I reached the street car line, Miss Wharton recognized me and said: "Dr. King, do come up here as soon as you can!" I then ran up stairs, and in doing so passed a man on the stairway, but did not pay any attention to him, so could not say positively as to who it was. When I got up stairs, in the main hall, I saw Judge Layman near the door. I proceeded to the room in which I saw Judge Layman and found a man lying on his back with Judge Barnes holding his head in his hand. I recognized the body lying prone as that of Charles W. Brown. Judge Barnes removed his hand from beneath Mr. Brown's head and I examined the pulse and heart of Mr. Brown and found the last pulse beats of a dying man. I then arose and stated to Judge Barnes that Mr. Brown was dead. In a few moments several physicians and spectators arrived. I told them that I thought it best to close and lock the door and keep the crowd out. I then unbuttoned Mr. Brown's vest and under clothes and discovered a wound, seemingly that made by a pistol bullet in the axillary line, between the fourth and fifth rib and no other wounds were discovered. I then telephoned the coroner and called up Cherry's livery for an ambulance. Later in Reynolds's undertaking establishment I located the bullet on the opposite of the chest in the axillary line near the tenth or eleventh ribs just beneath the skin. The penetration of the wound penetrating the chest near the fourth or fifth rib I can say most positively caused the death of Charles W. Brown.

Charles Dalymphe's Testimony.

The testimony of Charles Dalymphe was as follows: About 4:15 this afternoon I received a call from the Star Lunch room for a carriage for Ambrose Hurley. I answered the call. When I got to the Star Lunch room Ambrose came out rather under the influence of liquor and asked what I was going to charge him for this carriage. I told him that I could not let him have it but thirty minutes as I had some train calls to make after that time. He said "I guess that will be long enough." I went out to drive me down Court street west then on West street to West State street to the Scott block. I closed the door and drove as to his directions. Just before making the turn off of West street to West State street, he stopped me and told me, that if he got into any racket, and came down in a hurry to drive north after he got in, north in the alley beside the Scott block to the intersection of Reed street, east on Reed street to East street, thence south to North street, thence east to the alley by the old Schmalz place thence south by Paul Shappard's barn, then east and let him out at the back gate of his home as he wanted to get there as quickly as possible and did not want to go through the square nor by the station. Now go ahead around in front of the Scott block. I drove on to the Scott block, he opened the door and got out saying "Leave the door open" and then went up the stairway and in the hall and directly I heard a shot followed by a scream from a lady or girl and in about thirty seconds I should judge, there was a second shot. I looked around and down the street, and saw no one except Fred Lane talking to a party near the corner. I could see some one in the back of Martin's store and I cried "For God's sake some one get up stairs as I think there is a murder being done," but before anyone reached the stairway Ambrose came down, twirling the revolver in his hand.

Pointing the revolver at me he said "Drive me where I told you and hurry up," getting in at the same time and closing the door. I turned off of State street down the alley, and crossing Court street in the alley going north. He put the gun through the window, which was down and poked me in the back and said "Take that whip out and for Christ's sake hurry up." I replied that the horses were trotting as fast as they could go and if I started to running them he would have everyone in town running after the rig. He said "I guess that's right." When we turned the corner, going east on Reed street, as he had told me, I glanced back into the carriage and he had emptied two shells out of the revolver, and was putting in two loaded ones. I drove east on Reed street as to his instructions and arrived at the back gate of his home, which is the old Widmayer place. He kept urging me to hurry up all of the time of the drive and every time I looked back, the gun was pointed at me. He opened the door and got out. I got down off the seat. He then asked me how much it was. I told him fifty cents. He pulled a roll of money out of his pocket. I don't know how much he had. He gave me a dollar bill and I gave him fifty cents change. He staggered around in the road as if he was more or less under the influence of liquor, more so than when I first got him and he did not seem to realize just what he was saying. "Where have you got me, where in the H— is Mrs. Engle's house. I said why here is Mrs. Engle's house and there is your back gate. This is the Wild-mayer house where you want to go is it not?" He said "O, yes, I see" and said "That's Clay avenue right up there isn't it?" I replied "Yes." He says "You go north to North street and don't you turn south." As I got into the rig, he said "You had better keep your head shut." As soon as I left him, I drove as he instructed without looking back to see where he went and returned to the Scott block. Perry White came out to the carriage and asked me what I had done with him. I told him that I had taken him home. I asked if he had shot any one. He told me that he had shot Charles Brown. I asked him if he was hurt much, and he replied that he had killed him. Just then Sheriff Rogers and State's Attorney Tilton came to the carriage and asked me where I had taken Andy Hurley and I replied that I had taken him to the rear of his home on Court street. They then left me and I went to the barn.

Earl M. Henderson.

Earl M. Henderson, public engineer testified as follows:

"I do not know of any special trouble between Mr. Brown and Hurley. I talked with Brown this morning and he asked me if I had seen Hurley. I told him that I had seen him a few days ago and he had stated to me that he was in a bad way and was about all in. I finished my talk with Brown and we agreed to meet this afternoon, about 4 o'clock. Early this afternoon I received a phone call to go out on Franklin street, where there was some trouble of some kind. I went out and was surprised to learn there was no trouble of any kind out there so came back and got to the center of the park where I was told of the shooting and went at once to the Scott block. I know of no cause what so ever, that would lead to the shooting."

Charles H. Elliott.

Charles H. Elliott gave in the following testimony:

"I was not present at the shooting but was at my home which is directly across the street from the Scott block. I heard the first shot and saw Miss Wharton running and screaming and at once I ran down stairs and across the street, around a carriage, up the stairs and there saw Dr. King and the body and heard Dr. King say he was dead. I at once ran out and started to the police station, but saw Perry White at the side door of the court house and ran in and informed Sheriff Rogers. I do not know of anything that would cause the shooting. They always seemed to be the best of friends and I know of Mr. Brown assisting Hurley at various times.

INQUIRED INTO CAUSE OF DEATH

Coroner Skinner Holds Inquest Over the Remains of Ambrose Hurley.

Simultaneous with the inquest over the remains of Charles W. Brown, an inquest was held for Ambrose Hurley, in the office of Judge E. P. Brockhouse at the court house Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Only two witnesses were examined as to his death, W. Frank Todd and B. C. Andrews, both deputy sheriffs. The jury was composed of Perry J. White, foreman, R. L. Dye, William H. Catherwood, A. S. Moon, Fred Konrad and William E. Thomson, clerk. They gave in a verdict that "the deceased came to his death by reason of a gun shot wound in his head, caused by a bullet from a 38 calibre Harrington-Richards revolver the same being inflicted by his own hand."

The testimony taken in substance follows:

W. Frank Todd, W. Frank Todd who resides at 122 W. Morton avenue, a deputy sheriff says:

"I was at the police station and heard that Ambrose Hurley had shot Chas. W. Brown. I went to the Wabash station and then came back to the police station and then to 328 East Court street, I think where Ambrose Hurley was said to room. I went through the lower part of the house, coming in the back way, then went out in front of the house and met the lady he rooms with out on the street. I asked Mrs. Gilson if Hurley was in there and she said he wasn't, and I asked her for permission to go through the house but she said there was no use for he was not in there. At that time B. C. Andrews deputy sheriff and Al Spaulding arrived and we started around the house to go in the back way and we heard a shot up stairs. We went up to his room and found him with a bullet hole in his head and by all indications he did it himself. He was lying on the bed, a cigaret in his left hand and his revolver lying beneath his right leg. I examined the revolver and there was one empty chamber. His hand was lying on the revolver. The revolver was a Harrington and Richards, five shot. He had all his clothes off except his underwear, including shoes and socks. The wound showed that the ball had gone through his head entering back of the right ear and going out at the left temple, lodging the side of the wall. He lived five minutes, possibly ten after we arrived. He never said a word and when we saw him first blood was running out of his mouth and death must have been instantaneous. There was no one in the house, and Mrs. Gilson was out on the street."

B. C. Andrews who resides at 719 West Lafayette avenue, a deputy sheriff testified as follows:

"I was coming on the west side of the square and was notified about a shooting had taken place and that the police wanted me. That was about 4:30 o'clock. Chief Davis called and told me to come to the office. I went and in company with Mr. Spaulding and Mr. Todd we went with Charles Franz of the Dunlap in his machine. Chief told me to go to 328 East Court street. Spaulding walked with me up to the house. We met Todd in front of the house. We started around the back of the house and heard a shot. We then went up the stairway. I thought I heard some one's feet touching the floor as we went up. Mr. Hurley had the gun under his left leg, with his hand near the gun. Mr. Todd and I examined the gun and there was one empty shell in it. I think he lived about five minutes after I arrived. He was unconscious and never moved after I saw him."

Other Witnesses.
Other important witnesses before the jury were Judge Layman, Judge Barnes and E. F. Johnston and their testimony was practically the same as indicated by the statements appearing from them in another part of the paper.

IN HURLEY'S BED ROOM.
After Hurley had reached the home of Mrs. Nell Gilson, 328 East Court street, where he was rooming, he went directly to the front room upstairs on the west side. As hurriedly as possible he had taken off his garments, except his underclothes and laid them loosely upon the bed. He had also removed his stockings. He sat on the edge of the bed and fired the bullet through his head, the ball entering above the right ear and going out through the left temple. As he shot he fell backward, and when found was lying in a pool of blood, which was running from his wounds and from his mouth. His coat was partially beneath him and his feet were barely touching the floor. The bullet had spent itself in the north wall, a distance of 5 feet, carrying with it bits of hair and flesh. In order to make sure of the deed he had placed some extra cartridges on the floor near the bed. In his left hand Hurley held an unlighted cigaret between the first and second finger. By the time the ambulance had arrived two or three hundred people had appeared on the scene and the police had to guard all the doors to keep them from entering the residence.

SUCCESSOR FOR COMMISSIONER BROWN.
As the late Charles W. Brown was one of the commissioners of Jacksonville discussion has naturally arisen as to the choosing of his successor. Section 11. of the commission form of government act reads as follows:

"The mayor and commissioners shall hold their respective offices for the term of four years, or until their successors are elected and qualified. Provided, that any mayor or commissioner elected at a special election in pursuance of the adoption of this act, shall hold their respective offices until the next quadrennial general election or until their successors are elected and qualified. If any vacancy occurs in any such office the remaining members of said council shall, within thirty days after such vacancy occurs, appoint a person to fill such vacancy during the balance of the unexpired term."

FLAG AT HALF MAST.
Mayor Davis last night ordered the flag over the city building placed at half mast in honor of the memory of Commissioner Brown. A special meeting of the council will probably be held today to take suitable action relative to the death of Mr. Brown when no doubt resolutions will be adopted and an order passed to drape the city hall.

SEEMED PERFECTLY SOBER.
Commissioner Engel said last night that Hurley had been in his place of business for some time during the afternoon and seemed to be sober and in a quiet frame of mind. He had been sick for sometime and in response to questions replied that he was feeling better than he had been for several weeks. Mr. Engel does not believe that Hurley was at all under the influence of liquor.

FOUND EMPTY SHELLS.
Soon after the shooting Miss Grace Wharton, who was taking dictation from Mr. Brown when he was shot, was taken to her home in a carriage suffering from nervous shock. The carriage pressed into service proved to be the one which Hurley had used a few minutes earlier and Mayor Davis, who accompanied Miss Wharton, picked up from the carriage floor two empty shells. It is likely that Hurley reloaded the empty chambers of his revolver as he rode along.

NEAR SEAT OF JUSTICE.
A well known citizen remarked last night that two of the worst crimes in the history of Morgan county were perpetrated within the city limits of the court house. Years ago Charles Hastings was killed in the Kirby building just a short distance east of the court house and yesterday Charles Brown was murdered in the building adjoining the court house on the west.

HURLEY'S LIFE.
Ambrose Hurley was about 44 years of age and had lived in Jacksonville about 20 years, his parents coming here from Foodhouse and residing in the Third ward. For many years he was a railroad man, working for the Chicago & Alton and also the old J. S. E. line. In more recent years he had been employed by the Central Union Telephone company and at intermittent times by Charles W. Brown and by the city. For a month or more, at the close of Mayor Daneroff's administration, he served as chief of police.

LOOKED FOR JUDGE OF WEAPONS.
When Ambrose Hurley was standing in Engel's pool room yesterday afternoon he said to Earl Taylor: "Are you a good judge of weapons? I want to show you a gun I am going after a fellow with." Taylor, however, manifested no curiosity to see the revolver and it was not displayed.

WILL TAKE CHARGE OF REMAINS.
Mrs. Warner, a sister of Ambrose Hurley, living in Springfield, notified J. G. Reynolds last night that she will arrive this morning and take charge of the remains. Where the burial will be has not been determined.

THE FIRST ALARM.
Immediately after the shooting Capt. F. C. Taylor telephoned the facts to the police. Mayor Davis was notified and he rushed to the Scott building quickly followed by Commissioner Knollenberg and Clerk Pratt. Chief of Police Davis accompanied by William Catherwood and Officer Eads drove rapidly to the building. As soon as they learned the facts and the direction Hurley had taken they started in pursuit believing that he might be found around the Wabash station or yards. Officer Tuttle who was taken in a buggy by Mr. Cain joined them in the search. Finding no trace of their man, the officers then hurried to the police station from whence three were dispatched to the Burlington station where a train was due to start soon. A moment later a message came from the sheriff's office that Dalrymple had reported Hurley had gone to his boarding house. Deputy Sheriffs Todd and Andrews and Ol Spaulding immediately set out for that place and found Hurley as related elsewhere.

HAD OFTEN THREATENED.
During recent months when Ambrose Hurley was drinking he went about the streets and frequently stopped those whom he knew well to tell them about alleged troubles with Mr. Brown. He always intimated that he had been promised a job which had not been forthcoming and on a number of occasions he had suggested that some day his time would come and he would play even. To one man he said a week ago: "He

SHERMAN MARKS HASTY TRIP TO CHICAGO.

Visit Rumored to be for the Purpose of Informing Lorimer on Senate's Action—Senator Will Fight to Last Outfit to Retain Seat.

Chicago, May 25.—Vice-President Sherman made a hurried trip to Chicago today and it was rumored that his visit was for the purpose of notifying Senator Lorimer of the opinion of the Senate on the Lorimer investigation. Mr. Sherman left the train at Unionwood, a suburb of Chicago, and after a short stay, he again left.

At the station when Mr. Sherman arrived was William Lorimer, Jr., son of Senator Lorimer, and Judge Hanes. Both shook hands with Mr. Sherman but did not accompany him.

Mr. Hanes said the meeting was accidental, as he had gone there to meet Charles Ward, Senator Lorimer's secretary. Mr. Ward did not arrive.

Congressman James R. Mann accompanied Mr. Sherman to Chicago but did not return to Washington with him. Mr. Mann said that he came to Chicago to attend a meeting of the district committee of the seventh district, which he represents in Congress.

Close friends of Senator Lorimer tonight said positively that he would not resign from the Senate no matter what pressure or influence might be brought to induce him to do so. He would return to Washington as soon as his health would permit to defend himself against his opponents, they said.

His flight would be "to the last ditch" was their final assertion.

Representative Mann denied that he knew what brought Mr. Sherman to Chicago.

"I just happened to be on the same train," said Mr. Mann. "He told me he came to Chicago on personal business."

Mr. Sherman said he did not care to discuss politics to any extent, but that he had some opinions regarding recent incidents that would require warm words to express.

"I will say most emphatically, however, that I believe President Taft will be nominated," he said.

Washington, May 25.—Vice-President Sherman left Washington last night for Chicago and it was rumored that he would see Senator Lorimer to communicate the result of a poll of the Senate on his case.

That poll shows:
Certain for Lorimer 40
Certain to oppose him 39
Doubtful 16
There is one vacancy.

Although nearly a week has gone by since the poll was made, the Lorimer supporters have not been able to add one name to their list. These classes as doubtful have refused to give any indication of their intentions.

A show to the Lorimer forces was the detection of Senator Charles R. Kamm, who voted for Senator Lorimer last session. This offsets the gain by Lorimer of Senator Jones, of Washington, who last session voted against him.

told me if I did not land that job that I could shoot him through the heart. I haven't got the job yet and I guess I'll have to do the other." He kept that awful promise.

HAD BEEN WARNED.

E. E. Crabtree, Had Told C. W. Brown of Hurley's Threats and Urged Him to Be Careful.

The story was circulated Saturday evening that E. E. Crabtree had heard of Hurley's threats against C. W. Brown and had gone to Mr. Brown and urged him to be careful. Mr. Crabtree was in St. Louis last night and when reached over the telephone by the Journal he said, after expressing his great sorrow at the awful happening:

"Hurley came into the bank about six weeks ago and said a good deal about Brown not having treated him right and that he proposed to get even with him. The man talked a good deal about having had the promise of a job which he did not get and was in such a threatening mood that I was alarmed about it. I told him that a good many of his wrongs were imaginary and the best thing he could do was to have a quiet, straight talk with Mr. Brown and that the matter could, no doubt, be fixed up all right. He promised me he would do this. Later I went over to Mr. Brown's office and related the circumstances to him, telling him that I really feared Hurley might do something desperate. He seemed not to be greatly alarmed, but said he would be careful and that he and Hurley would discuss the matter over. I had been talking to him in C. E. Dickson's office and when we came out I noticed Hurley sitting in Mr. Brown's office nearby and I supposed that he had gone there to talk about his alleged troubles, as I had suggested. Later, however, I learned that he had not mentioned the matter."

MR. BROWN'S FUNERAL.

The remains of Mr. Brown were taken last night from Reynolds to his home on Webster avenue. Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed but it will probably be held Tuesday.

PEORIA MEET.

Five Records Mashed in Inter-Collegiate Contests — Buckster Record Vault.

Peoria, Ill., May 25.—Five state inter-collegiate records were smashed at the fifth annual meeting of Illinois Colleges held at Bradley Polytechnic school today. Tennessee of Milledgeville with 22.35 lowered the 220 yard dash mark, clipping one-fifth of a second from the record. Buckster of Illinois College at Jacksonville pole vaulted 11 feet 6 inches, ten inches above last year's record.

Derry of Illinois threw the hammer 125 feet, 11 inches, adding 12 feet 7 inches to the previous mark. Darrett of Bradley with 21 feet, four inches, added two inches to the broad jump and Wolrab of Wesleyan cleared the bar at five feet, 9 3/4 inches, an inch over the record.

Bradley won first honors, with 21.12 points. Hedding of Abingdon was second with twenty points.

CONDITIONS GROWING WORSE IN CUBA

TWO DIVISIONS OF FLEET ORDERED TO KEY WEST READY TO MOVE.

Insurrection and Disorder Threaten Life and Property of Americans—Additional Marines Will Be Taken on at New York and Norfolk.

Washington, May 25.—Insurrection and disorders in Cuba, which threaten the life and property of Americans are believed by the United States, to be spreading beyond control of the Cuban government. Two divisions of the Atlantic battleship fleet, to day, were ordered to rendezvous at Key West ready to move to Cuba at the instant their presence is needed. The army is prepared with an expeditionary force of 15,000 men. The insurrection and serious labor troubles, as a result of the renewal of the Longshoremen's strike, are believed to warrant American preparedness. The disturbances expected at the Cuban ports, through the strikers' operations are believed to be the more dangerous.

The American fleet will take station ready to sail into Havana within five hours.

If the presence in the ports of the American warships is not enough to prevent violent demonstration by the disorderly elements, recourse will be had to the marines. Thirteen hundred additional marines will be taken on at New York and Norfolk.

The attitude of the Cuban government in welcoming the dispatch of 700 American marines to Guantanamo on the Prairie is accepted as an indication of its perfect willingness to allow marines and bluejackets to be landed.

HIS LAST WORK.

About the last drafting work C. W. Brown did was on a county map which he has been preparing for the Journal. It was only a day or two since that he put his final work on it and sent it way to the publishers.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Carlson.
Harry Carlson, a sophomore in the State School for the Deaf, died at 1:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the institution from obstruction of the bowels. On Friday he was in his usual health, but about 9 o'clock that evening began to complain. An operation was necessary, but the young man's condition was such that he could not survive the shock and he passed away at the hour above stated. His death casts a gloom over the entire institution, as he was one of the best and most popular boys that ever attended the school. As a student he took high rank and it was confidently expected that he would eventually enter Gallaudet.

As an athlete Harry Carlson was one of the best known in this part of the state. He was on the football team, was captain and catcher of the baseball team and was prominent in all lines of athletics. He was but 17 years old, yet weighed over 200 pounds and was 6 feet, 4 inches in stature. He was a physical marvel and it seems strange that he should be so suddenly called away. No death has been more deeply deplored by both faculty and students. He was in all respects a model pupil and a manly, lovable character.

Harry Carlson was born May 11, 1893, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Carlson of Waukegan, Ill. He entered the state school in 1901 and has a brother, who is also a student in the institution. The parents are expected in the city to day and will accompany the remains to Waukegan, where interment will be made. Brief services will probably be held at the school. The pupils of the institution and the members of the Sophomore class yesterday made arrangements to send beautiful floral pieces, expressing their high esteem and regard for the deceased.

Hedrick.

The funeral of Mrs. Joseph Hedrick was held Saturday afternoon from the residence of her brother, Harrison Stumb, west of the city, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. There were many beautiful flowers, which were cared for by Mrs. Clara Harney and Miss Emma Price.

Interment was in Diamond Grove cemetery and the bearers were Richard Jones, M. B. Nichols, George Price, Jesse Price and John Stewart.

Nichols.
Frank Masters received a telegram Saturday announcing the death of his late wife's sister, Mrs. Ida Nichols at her home in Blue Mount at four o'clock Saturday morning after an extended illness. The deceased was born in this county Dec. 25, 1864, and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jordan, the family home at that time being in the Shiloh neighborhood. Mrs. Nichols was a member of the Methodist church and was a woman highly esteemed for her many good qualities.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon and Mrs. Edmund Blackburn and Miss Jessie Masters went to Blue Mount to be present.

A CARD OF THANKS.

The pastor, Geo. T. Shaw, on behalf of the members of Ethel A. M. E. church takes this method of thanking the pastors and members of the Congregational and Westminster church for the contribution of clothing and money for flood sufferers.

The kindness of The Journal enables us to thank one and all.

ALUMNAE TO MEET.

The meeting of the alumnae of the Jacksonville Female Academy and Athenaeum will be held at Academy hall Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A group of songs will be given by Mrs. Sarajane Matthews Brown, violin numbers by Mr. W. E. Krutch and Miss Carrie Dunlap and some piano numbers by Mr. Edmund Munger and Miss Irene Thompson and Helen Phelps. Mrs. Mary Turner Carriel will deliver an address on "The Women and Children of Other Countries."

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and son Myles, will go to Macomb today on account of the serious illness of an uncle of Mrs. Roberts.

NEW MAKES REPLY TO M'HARG STORY

SAYS THE PLAIN DUTY OF NATIONAL COMMITTEE IS TO CHOOSE TEMPORARY OFFICERS.

Senator Root Proposed as a Man Satisfactory to All—Open Declaration by One Candidate's Followers of Intention to Defy Party Authority Is Unprecedented.

Chicago, May 25.—Col. Harry S. New, of Indianapolis, chairman of the sub-committee on arrangements for the Republican national convention, to day issued a statement in reply to Ormsby M'Hardy of New York, who, yesterday, declared that the Roosevelt forces would refuse to abide by the selection of United States Senator Root as temporary chairman of the Republican national convention.

The statement follows: "It is difficult to believe that such a thronal this should be made. The Republican national committee is the recognized authority, the official body of the party, charged with certain duties among which is the making of necessary preparations for an orderly conducted convention. Incident to this is the selection by the committee of temporary officers whose duty it shall be to preside over the earlier deliberations of the convention and until the convention itself in the regular way can provide for its own permanent officers."

"The name of Senator Root occurred to my mind, without previous consultation with anyone as that of a Republican whose great talents and eminent position made him conspicuously and prominently qualified to perform the duties attaching to the temporary chairmanship."

"The members of the sub-committee on arrangements unanimously approved Senator Root's selection and not the least objection to him had come to my ears from any member of the Republican national committee."

"An open declaration at this time on behalf of any candidate, to the effect that his followers propose to defy all party authority, to repudiate the action of its highest official body and the further threat to set all regular and established order at defiance, is unusual and extraordinary, to say the least."

"I have no further reason for believing it has solid foundation than the statement attributed to Mr. M'Hardy by the press this morning."

"The national committee has proceeded with its convention preparations in the established, time honored manner and it will shirk no duty devolving upon it."

COUNTRY CLUB NOTES.

The house committee of the Country club has arranged for a luncheon to be given at the club on Decoration day. The golfers will play 18 holes against blind bogey for a place on the team to represent the club at the central Illinois tournament. In tennis also ten will play for a place. The public is invited to watch these contests.

J. W. Hubble, F. E. Farrell, F. E. Baldwin and Dr. Dinsmore have been appointed as delegates to a meeting of the Central Illinois association, which will be held June 2 in Bloomington. The principal business at this meeting will be the consideration of applications from cities, which wish to become members of the association. It is not likely, however, that other cities will be admitted, as there are now eight in the association and none has any more than a 9 hole course.

In the tournament each club is entitled to 8 entries, which would mean 64 players, as many as can be accommodated on a 9 hole course. The other cities in the association beside Jacksonville are Bloomington, Decatur, Galesburg, Springfield, Quincy, Peoria and Champaign. The Central Illinois association tournament will be held July 15-20.

Ladies having fur garments needing alteration or repair should consult FRANK BYRNS.

RETURN FROM CONFERENCE.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Miller returned last night from Minneapolis, where they have been attending the general conference of the Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Miller being a delegate from the Illinois conference. The readers of The Journal have been able to keep in close touch with the proceedings of the conference by following the Associated Press reports supplemented by Rev. Mr. Miller's exceptionally interesting and painstaking accounts of the conference transactions.

Only 50 Women Can Join The Hoosier Cabinet Club for $1.00

After you study the above picture you will not wonder that women are anxious to join the Hoosier club, when by so doing they have a Hoosier Cabinet delivered to their homes on payment of only $1.00.

"Think of the hundreds of needless steps every woman you know could save by having her table, pantry and cupboard, with all her tools and supplies centered in one spot."

Your energy instead of being wasted is saved and the time spent in your kitchen—the least pleasant part of your work—is reduced by one-half, the moment this famous Hoosier Cabinet comes into your home.

The Hoosier company sends its 3,000 agents a limited number of Hoosier Cabinets each year to be sold under direct supervision of the factory on the famous Hoosier Club Plan.

This year most cities received only 25 cabinets. Our urgent request secured us 50 of these cabinets for the ladies of Jacksonville.

Only 50 women, therefore, can join the club and have a Hoosier Cabinet delivered immediately on payment of $1.00; balance in a few weekly payments of $1.00. Many already have enrolled.

The Club Plan differs radically from the installment plan which often is linked with high prices and unknown goods. The low price of the Hoosier Cabinet is fixed everywhere by the factory. No Hoosier agent can sell for less or more on any terms.

So club members get a great benefit from the liberal club terms. The club probably will be filled very quickly. Those who want Hoosier Cabinets should enroll their names at once.

WANTS NO "BOSS" RULE AT CHICAGO

Roosevelt "Will Not Permit" Discredited Politicians to Take Control—Already Claims New Jersey.

Elizabeth, N. J., May 25.—Col. Roosevelt declared today that he would not permit "discredited politicians and bosses" to take control of the Republican national convention. He asserted that professional politicians in the past had been accustomed to try "strong arm tactics."

"I won't stand for it a moment," he said.

Col. Roosevelt made these statements in what he called a fighting speech at Plainfield today, at the close of a long day of speech-making. Tonight he started for Oyster Bay to remain after Sunday.

Col. Roosevelt's opponents have no thought of winning unless they can win by deliberate cheating in the nation," said Col. Roosevelt at Plainfield. "The national committee is supposed to pass upon the rights of delegates to sit in the convention. If it chooses it can turn over delegates lawfully elected by the people and put in others. Our opponents have shown that they intend to use the national committee as a tool to be beaten in their own states to sit in judgment in the convention."

"For example, we have thrashed the bosses in Illinois and Pennsylvania, but the national committee men who sit in the convention from those states represent not our seventy delegates in Pennsylvania, but our opponents' six. We got 54 in Illinois and our opponents got two."

"I want our opponents to understand this: If the people are against me, I have nothing to say, but if the people are for me, and discredited bosses and politicians try to upset us, I won't stand for it a moment."

"When we went into this fight we went in on the assumption that the people had the right to decide who their candidate should be. The professional politicians have been accustomed to try strong arm tactics. They could so when the fight was a contest between two factions. It is not that sort of a fight this time."

"In Chicago we intend to put through our platform. We intend that it shall declare outright for popular rule. We are tired of the rule of the bosses."

President Taft's expression of belief that he will win the nomination was referred to by Col. Roosevelt here tonight.

"I see that Mr. Taft says he is going to win," the colonel began. "Well, during his Ohio campaign he announced that the decision of Ohio would settle it. Ohio has decided and has given me 40 out of its 48 delegates, if Mr. Taft is contented with that decision then surely no human being in the United States has a right to be discontented."

The colonel said several times today that he was sure of victory.

"We've got them going," he said at Cranford, "and we're going to put it through. I believe that we are going to sweep New Jersey. Our opponents say they're going to win," he said in another speech. "I don't believe it. We'll hammer them through the ropes."

TAFT TELLS ABOUT HIS PURPOSES

President in World's Work Answers Question "What I Am Trying To Do."

New York, May 25.—"What I Am Trying To Do"—an article by President Taft—appears in the current issue of the World's Work and deals with tariff revision, business prosperity, arbitration and independence of the judiciary. The president asserts that he is willing to go before the people for a verdict on his veto of the three tariff bills passed by the house in extraordinary session last year; that no charge yet made against him has gone nearer to his heart than that he, by enforcing the anti-trust law, was hurting business; that he intends, so long as he can raise his voice, to continue to favor general arbitration and that the Republican party would lose caste as a defender of American civilization should it take up the judicial recall as one of its tenets.

In part the president's article follows:

"I was elected president of the United States on the Republican platform of 1908. The party declared in that platform that in all tariff legislation the true principle of protection is best maintained by the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between cost of production at home and abroad. The party went before the people on that issue and was sustained.

"Our Democratic brethren have departed from the faith on the tariff board which a majority then embraced, and in the extraordinary session of last year, they passed three tariff bills without the aid of information from a tariff board, drawn in such an unscientific, unsystematic, and reckless way that I did not hesitate to veto them, in order that they might await the coming in of the report of the tariff board upon schedule K, wool and woolsens, which one tariff bill affected, and upon cotton and cotton manufactures, which another tariff bill affected. We should be entirely willing to go before the country and invite a verdict of the people.

"No charge has been made against me that went nearer to my heart than the charge that I, by the enforcement of the anti-trust law, was injuring the business of the country. I enforced it so far as lay in my power and duty because it is on the statute book. I enforced it because I believe it to be a good law, and I believe it when properly construed to make a right guide for business. I believe that by the construction of the courts of the laws that are on the statute books and by decisions that are yet to come, the line may clearly be drawn so that business may square itself to those boundaries which the law fixes.

"I should deprecate the suggestion of any so-called reform that involves constitutional changes without our knowing exactly what we are going to do and what the effect of these changes will be. What I would deprecate is the sudden suggestion of amendments for this end, and amendments that, and having amendments for breakfast the next morning as if the amendment of the fundamental law were nothing but the repeal of an ordinary statute or the passage of an ordinary appropriation bill.

"There is another subject which is rather tender with me. I am convinced that most of the audiences that I have had the privilege of addressing within the last year were in favor of passing and ratifying the peace treaties just as they were presented to Congress. I give notice that I have not lost interest in that point and I have not thought of surrendering, because I intend, so far as I can and so long as I may raise my voice, to continue to favor general universal arbitration. I acknowledge and admit the power of the senate, and I believe it to be a great part of the structure of our government, and I would not have it eliminated for anything. I recognize the authority of the senate and have no quarrel with the exercise of that authority, but the ultimate source of all authority in this government is the people. It is the people who, by deliberate judgment can effect a reform which commends itself to their hearts and their souls and their minds, and it is upon them that I depend in this matter.

"We have treaties pending also with Nicaragua and Honduras to carry out the policy of the treaty with Santo Domingo and they ought to be ratified.

"There are other aims of government to which reference might be made, such as the movement looking to greater economy and efficiency in government work and expenditures; penny postage through postal economies; extension of practical conservation acts; parcels post; revision of currency laws and prevention of panics; scientific study of industrial conditions and international investigation of the high cost of living. But there is one subject to which I would refer in conclusion.

"Should the Republican party take up the judicial recall as one of its tenets, it would lose caste as a defender of our civilization, a maintainer of the constitution, and an upholder of justice. When we depart from the principles of the independence of the judiciary we shall lose the valuable essence of the administration of justice and we shall retrograde to the joint where the history of decadence of republics begins. I am not unmindful of the necessity for judicial reforms, but that depends not on changing the character of the judges, but upon the change of procedure, the expedition of judgments and the reduction of the expense of litigation."

As "Ed" Howe Sees Life

If you have sense enough to realize why flies gather around a restaurant you should be able to appreciate why men run for office.

Every man who meets with unusual success, is vain, and can't help showing it a little.

When you shake hands with a man, don't hang on to his hand too long. People universally prefer the short shake.

People rarely learn from the humiliation of others.

A woman's scream is better protection against burglars than a revolver. A woman's scream scares any man, good or bad.

If there is a single good thing about rheumatism, it is that it gives notice when it attacks. But you may have kidney trouble for years without knowing it.

People can nearly always be fooled with big promises.

Young men often say: "While I haven't much money, I can get all sorts of backing." But older men know that it is difficult to get backing as it is to arouse your friends over your wrongs.

Anyone will play with little children awhile; but mothers are compelled to do it twenty-four hours a day.

When you feel as tough all the time as you do when you have a bad cold, that age.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When it is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Neutrogen's Herpicide. Neutrogen's Herpicide is absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It always itching instantly, makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Herpicide" the cause you remove the effect. Sold by leading druggists. Send for a sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

New York, 6-0; Washington, 3-5.

New York, May 25.—The New Yorks defeated Washington in both games of a double header today. Johnson was wild in the first game. He knocked Shortstop Martin unconscious with a pitched ball.

In the second game the locals hammered Groom and Akers hard. First game—R. H. E. Washington.....110 000 100—3 10 3 New York.....100 032 000—6 8 0 Batteries—Johnson and Alsmith; Ford and Sweeney.

MORNING EYE-OPENERS.

Now let's see if he sticks. We all remember what a great arm Hy had and as he is on the sunny side of thirty should come strong. At any rate he is in the best of company and if it is in him it will come out all right.

Gartley, once with Decatur, is now first substitute catcher of the Giants. Local fans remember him as a big good natured fellow and able to stand any amount of work.

This is Honus Wagner's steenth season in the game and he is going stronger than ever. A good example to the rising generation of what steady habits and care in training will do for a ball player.

Here's a sage remark from the New York Sun: "Conkie Mack is going to have a harder task overtaking the White Sox than the Tigers last season. The Callahan aggregation is on the rise, while the Jennings bunch was making its last flash before a decline." True, every word of it.

It was Hedges, the president of the Lowly St. Louis Browns that lent the fashion of eating steel, and exeterate grand stands. The example set by St. Louis was followed by Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Detroit, and now Brooklyn is waking up and will have a brand new structure equal to any of them by mid-season.

Now comes the surprising but none the less welcome intelligence that Hy Jasper, the demon short stop of Harry Batters' lamented team of the Central association, has signed with O'Day's pennants as a pitcher. It will be remembered that Berte occasionally used Hy in the box and that he had all the earmarks of a comer. He had speed that Walter Johnson might envy but was lacking in control. He seems to have acquired that if the following from Ren Mulford's Cincinnati letter to Sporting Life: Hy Jasper is the tenth pitcher on the staff. He is an Oklahoma recruit, a right hander, and possessed a penchant in the Oklahoma league for packing the other fellows hit the air. They say in the last game he pitched 17 batters—Gus Hilled themselves to the bench. It was the finest exhibition of club swinging seen in a conon's age.

TRAVERS AGAIN CHAMPION.

Shortchills, N. J., May 25.—For the second year in succession and the fourth time in his career, Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair, won the Metropolitan Golf club championship to day. He defeated Oswald Kirby of Englewood in the 36 hole round over the links of the Baltusrol Golf club 9 up and 8 to play.

INFELDERS GO SOUTH.

Chicago, May 25.—Eddie Lennox and Charles Moore, infielders, tonight were ordered by President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals to report to the Louisville American association team at once.

A "string" is attached to Moore but Lennox was released outright.

CHICAGO PRESS CLUB HAS SCOOP

Holds National Republican Convention Almost a Month Ahead of the Date Fixed.

Chicago, May 25.—The Chicago Press club tonight "scooped" the Republican convention almost a month in advance of the set time for it. The convention was held in a downtown theatre before a large audience.

Taft, Roosevelt, LaFollette, Cannon, Clark, Wilson, Hearst and even Clark's celebrated "houn dawg" were on the stage. About 150 persons took part in the performance. The burlesque was in one act, it having been announced that the club would present "in one act the many screaming acts of the political leaders of the day."

The curtain rose on a convention scene with the temporary chairman, newspaper men, telegraph operators and several delegations in their places. A few seconds later, the New York delegation entered. The carried banners inscribed "Jim Jeffries Thought So, Too" and "We Are For Big Built Aft." The lone Roosevelt delegate was tied and blindfolded.

Roosevelt, clad in a cowboy outfit, followed quickly. After exclaiming "Lars" he threw his hat into the audience. Then he described a chalk ring on the stage and threw another hat into it. In snappy sentences he explained he was not a candidate for the nomination and that if he accepted it, he would have to force himself to do so.

"I have gone all over the country trying to stop this movement," he declared.

Roosevelt having retired, LaFollette and the Wisconsin delegation appeared. After kicking Roosevelt's hat out of the ring, LaFollette announced his platform, bearing greatly on the Wisconsin income tax, which, he declared, gave men with large families large tax exemptions.

"If a man has twelve children, Roosevelt pays him a compliment; LaFollette pays him a bonus," said the speaker.

A message arrived for Roosevelt, and upon being paged, he decided he had been nominated, so he re-entered the convention and began to thank its members for the great honor they had thrust upon him. Informed of his error, he replaced his hat in the ring and then departed.

Amid great disorder Cannon rushed into the convention, pushed the temporary chairman from the platform and took the gavel.

"We must have harmony," he shouted, "even if we have to fight for it."

The Ohio delegation arrived with President Taft. He gave Roosevelt's hat the customary kick and made a speech.

"I am against the recall," he said. "I am especially opposed to the recall of a president after he is out. I find nothing in the constitution about this out again, in again business and the constitution must be preserved. I don't want to move. I hope every man who had to move May 1 will vote for me."

Champ Clark and his "dawg" followed the next arrivals, the divided Missouri delegation. The dog kicked the hat from the ring and for the insult suffered several kicks from Roosevelt, who replaced the hat. Inquiry as to what Clark was doing in a Republican convention brought the reply that he wanted to obtain some pointers from the Roosevelt faction on how to run the Baltimore gathering.

Both Governor Wilson and Hearst, who appeared after Clark, knocked the hat out of the ring, with the result that Roosevelt threw it down and later put a brick under it. Eventually, Taft kicked the brick.

While the nominating speeches were being made a militant suffragette stormed the convention and began to assail the various politicians present. She took Taft to task for never having written any "Dear Maria" letters; Roosevelt because he wanted the hand that asked the bride to work overtime; LaFollette for his hair, which she alleged, was false; Clark for calling himself speaker of the house in defiance of the well known fact that a woman always has been the rightful owner of that title; Wilson for wearing a cap and gown, thus robbing woman of her rights; and Hearst for having asserted that he was a great editor, although many of his columns have soon filled by women writers.

The suffragette placed in nomination a newspaper woman who gives advice to sentimental people regarding affairs of the heart. The speaker declared her candidate has exposed more crooked men than the Sherman law.

Vote on Taft, Roosevelt and LaFollette resulted in a tie, each receiving 359 votes. Cannon announced that the man whose friends made the most noise would be declared the nominee. In the ballam which followed, all of the delegates shouted for all of the candidates and the convention was adjourned without a choice having been pressed.

The members of Matt Starr Post, No. 378, G. A. R., and W. R. C. No. 149, are invited to the State School for the Blind, 4 p. m. to day to attend memorial service.

DR. HYDE TO FACE THIRD TRIAL

Case of Man Accused of Murder of Col. Swope Begins Monday.

Kansas City, Mo., May 25.—The third trial of Dr. B. Clark Hyde, charged with the murder of Colonel Thomas H. Swope, is scheduled upon the docket to begin next Monday, but it is quite likely that the state will ask for another continuance, as the special prosecutor, United States Senator J. A. Reed, is still detained in Washington by his duties in congress. If another postponement is asked for and granted the case will probably not come up until after the adjournment of congress.

At the first trial, in the spring of 1910, Dr. Hyde was found guilty and was sentenced to imprisonment for life, but a new trial was granted, which came up last year. Hyde's second trial ended abruptly when Harry Waldron, one of the jurors escaped from the marshals. The third trial was to begin on Jan. 2, 1912, but it was postponed until May 27, in the hope that by that time Senator Reed would be at leisure to give his attention to the case.

Dr. B. Clark Hyde had been under suspicion in connection with the mysterious illness and deaths in the Swope family ever since the death of Colonel Thomas H. Swope on Oct. 3, 1909. The death of Colonel Swope followed soon after he had suffered a severe convulsion and this convulsion was charged by the members of the Swope family followed immediately after the administration of a capsule given by direction of Dr. Hyde. Dr. Hyde said it was a digestive tablet.

It was proved at the trial that Dr. Hyde had purchased cyanide of potassium in five grain capsules. Dr. Hyde claimed he bought the cyanide capsules to kill roaches in his office.

Two days before the death of Colonel Swope, Moss Hunton, a cousin of the millionaire philanthropist, died in the Swope home following a stroke of apoplexy. Dr. Hyde and Dr. G. T. Twyman of Independence treated Hunton. The patient was bled profusely, it is charged, at the suggestion of Dr. Hyde. Beginning early in December, an epidemic of typhoid fever broke out in the Swope household, during which ten members of the family were stricken and one, Chrisman Swope, a brother of Dr. Hyde's wife, died.

Chrisman died after taking a capsule given at Dr. Hyde's direction and after suffering a convulsion similar to the one that attacked Colonel Swope. Margaret Swope, Chrisman's sister, was also treated by Dr. Hyde, had a convulsion after taking a capsule, but she was given an emetic at once by Dr. Twyman, and recovered.

In all Dr. Hyde was indicted on eleven counts, the remaining indictments charging him with trying to murder members of the Swope family by introducing typhoid germs and poisons into the medicines administered by him.

FINISH GALVESTON CAUSEWAY

Galveston, Texas, May 25.—The Galveston Causeway, said to be the greatest engineering achievement of its kind in America, was formerly dedicated and opened to traffic today. The opening was made the occasion for a public celebration in which delegations from many Texas cities participated.

The completion of the causeway marks the culmination of the extensive improvements projected by the city of Galveston after the disastrous storm and flood which laid a large part of the city in ruins in 1900. The causeway connects Galveston Island and the mainland. The structure is 10,642 feet long, including bridge, 4,330 feet of causeway on the island and 2,640 on the mainland. The structure is 66 feet wide and provides for railroad and interurban tracks and roadways for vehicles and foot passengers. There are twenty eight arches in the bridge, in four series of seven arches each. The causeway has been three years in building and cost $1,500,000.

MORNING FOR LOST PROVINCE

Bucharest, May 25.—To commemorate the loss of the Province of Bessarabia, which, on May 26, 1912, became part of Russia, and to give expression to the national feeling of sorrow over the loss, tomorrow will be observed throughout Romania as a day of mourning. Black flags will be displayed on every house in the kingdom and in many places patriotic meetings and exercises will be held to commemorate the centenary. In Russia the day will be the occasion of national rejoicing.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES.

Mrs. L. D. May of St. Louis is a guest of her granddaughter, Miss Doris Myers.

Miss Maud Wallace, a former student and now a teacher of home economics in Christian college, spent a few days with friends of the college.

Miss Thirza Woods of Kansas City, Mo., also a former student, arrived Saturday to remain throughout the commencement season.

The freshmen entertained the sophomores Saturday evening by a hay rack ride.

On Monday at one o'clock the Belles Lettres gave a luncheon at the Peacock Inn in honor of the seniors in their society. This is one of the delightful annual affairs and is anticipated by all with pleasure. Dr. and Mrs. Harker and Miss Weaver will be their guests.

The sum of $50, the proceeds of a fund, known as the Wesley Mathers Memorial fund, is to be given by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Rowe in prizes for excellence in public speaking. These prizes are to be awarded in two contests, one for proficiency in public speaking, the other for proficiency in thought, composition and delivery of an original essay. As there are 12 applicants in the department of expression, a preliminary contest was held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 from which six students were chosen for the final contest in Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The essay contest will occur Wednesday afternoon at 4:15. The public is invited to both of these final contests.

The two recitals on last Friday, given by the students of the intermediate grade, were much enjoyed by those present. The program numbers throughout being representative and showing the careful instruction that the students have received during the past.

Saturday afternoon in the old chapel a program was given by some of the younger members of the classes of Miss Hay, Mrs. Coleman and Miss Nicholson, the audience consisting mostly of the parents of those participating in the program.

Director Max von L. Swarthout played a violin solo at Centenary M. E. church last Sunday morning, and on this occasion the "Andante Religioso," by Thome.

It is a matter of particular interest to the College of Music to learn that both Director and Prof. Donald Swarthout will have charge of the music at Grace Methodist church this coming year. Mr. Donald Swarthout serves as organist and his brother, as director of the choir.

Miss Mildred Weaver left for her home in East Liverpool, Ohio, on Tuesday evening, being obliged to forego her part of the coming music programs, because of a severe injury to one of her fingers.

The library received this week from Mrs. E. L. H. Tomlin and Mrs. Josephine Smith two volumes of The Art Amateur and Michaels' History of the Crusades, illustrated by Doré; also a gift of Hon. William Jennings Bryan of his speeches and lectures.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Students' recitals will be given next week: On Wednesday afternoon, May 23, at 4, students of Mrs. Bullard (piano), Miss Oldfield (voice), and Mr. Kritch (violin). On Thursday afternoon, May 24, at 4, students of Mr. Munger (piano), Mr. Kritch (violin) and Miss Oldfield (voice).

The advanced students' final recital will be given on Friday evening, May 25, at 8. Students of Mr. Kritch, Miss Oldfield and Mr. Munger will furnish the program, including Miss Mae Almsworth, who receives a teacher's certificate. All recitals will be held in recital hall and are open to the public.

The students' recital held Friday afternoon, May 24, including members of the classes of Miss Jerauld and Mr. Kritch, passed off smoothly and creditably. A number were present in spite of the threatening weather.

The school year of the Conservatory closes on Saturday, June 1.

Mr. Kritch, Mr. Munger, Miss Oldfield, Mrs. Bullard and Miss Jerauld will return next year as members of the Conservatory faculty. Mr. Kritch will spend most of his vacation in Michigan. Mr. Munger expects to be for some weeks in the east, where he will attend the anniversary of his class at Brown university, then will return to his home in Xenia, Ohio; Miss Oldfield will probably do some study under George Henschel and Luckstone this summer; Mrs. Bullard remains in Jacksonville till late July, and Miss Jerauld will be most of the time with her family in Vandalia, Ill.

The Illinois College Chorus will sing two sacred selections at the baccalaureate services on Sunday, June 2, under the direction of Mr. Howard E. French. A pleasant social evening was spent by members of the chorus last Tuesday evening, May 21. A short impromptu musical program was given by members of the faculty, assisted by Miss Danlos.

PROPERTY SOLD.

The residence known as the Kirtley Ann Pitner property and consisting of parts of three lots and a residence on Pine street was sold yesterday at auction by Capt. John E. Wright. Geo. W. Wells was the purchaser, paying $1,500.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES.

Preparations for commencement week are practically complete. The alumni, instead of holding their business meeting immediately after the commencement exercises, as heretofore, are planning to have their business meeting down town at the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 6 o'clock on Tuesday evening, June 4. At 8 o'clock they will adjourn to the supper and love feasts of their respective literary societies. On account of the establishment of the alumni fund and the increasing interest of the alumni in the affairs of the college, this program has been arranged in order to give more time for the business of the alumni association.

No special invitations have been issued for the reception by President and Mrs. Rammelkamp in honor of the graduating class on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 4, but all commencement guests and friends of the college are most cordially invited. The College Chorus will sing at the baccalaureate exercises in the State Street church on June 2.

The Rev. Graham Taylor, L. L. D., who will deliver the baccalaureate address, is well known as one of the greatest social settlement workers in the United States.

The Rev. Hy S. Albike delivered an interesting address to the students at the chapel exercises last Tuesday.

At the recent meeting of the Illinois State Historical society, the following men were present: Paul Selby, '33; Emory Moore, '68; J. P. Senn, formerly of the faculty; President Rammelkamp and Thomas Worthington of the board of trustees.

MURRAYVILLE M. E. CHURCH.

The Queen Esther Missionary circle of the Murrayville M. E. church, under the leadership of the pastor's wife, Mrs. Biddle, held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Blakeman, with daughter Miss Goldie as special hostess, with twenty-three in attendance. The rooms were beautifully decorated. The program was Chinese and Japanese customs compared. The refreshments were cakes, waffles, lemonade and rice eaten with roast beef sticks as chop sticks. Two of the waiters were dressed as Chinese and two as Japanese. Miss Blunt was invited to speak and took photographs of the Japanese waiters. Too much credit cannot be given to Mrs. Biddle for the excellent work she has done and is doing in the way of interesting the young women in missions. While she leaves for Michigan for the summer the circle with its efficient president and other officers and its loyal members will keep up its meetings during her absence.

FROM REV. THOS. J. SIMONS.
A friend has received a letter from the Rev. Thos. J. Simons from which it is learned that he has removed from Vernon, Ind., to Bluffton in the same state. Mr. Simons has a larger congregation than he had at Vevey, with increased salary, and his people are arranging to furnish him a manse. Incidentally it may be remarked that he became the father of his third child not long since. The new arrival was a very fine lady.

BURGLARS ENTER DRY GOODS STORE

Large Quantity of Silks and Gloves Taken From Montgomery & Depepe Establishment — Entrance Made Through Rear Windows.

Burglars entered the dry goods store of Montgomery & Depepe Friday night or early Saturday morning and succeeded in getting away with about $500 worth of dry goods, mostly silks and gloves. The burglary was not discovered until Saturday morning when the clerks took their places in the store.

Entrance was effected from the rear. The back windows are all guarded with heavy iron shutters, a pair to each window. On one is a bar on a bolt and revolves. On the other is a square iron projecting a short distance and when the shutters are closed the bar is revolved from the door to which it is fastened into the square iron thus holding the shutters tightly together. With a jimmy the shutter with the iron fastener was pried partly open bending the fastening iron which was lifted when there was a space through which a hand or a stick could be inserted. The window itself was not fastened so that ingress was easy. Knowing that the night police would be likely to come along at any time the shutter was carefully closed and fastened with a wire and having gained admission the thieves went to work. Silks and gloves were the objects of their search and for these they went at once. They were deliberate in taking the silks from the shelves and assorting them as they desired. Greater widths were rejected as they would easily fit into a suit case such as a man would carry and some remnants were left. They carefully covered their tracks as the papers taken from the silks were taken were all returned to the places from which they came.

The firm is felicitating themselves over one thing. The haul would have been far greater had the thieves noticed a large quantity of silks covered up on the counter where they had been placed for a special sale. It is highly probable that entrance was made at early dawn and when the men went out they unbolted the rear door and tying a string to the head of the bolt they pulled it into place after them so that when the night watch came around and tried the door it was fastened.

In the cash drawer was $3.00 in currency which they took and it is probable that they made an ineffectual attempt to open the safe as it showed some indications that such an attempt had been made by the intruders. It seems highly probable that the thieves are some of a regular gang who are infesting the country. A store in Havana has suffered twice and recently a big robbery of this sort was made in Quincy.

It is very probable that the men had a local confederate as knowledge of the building and surroundings was evidenced. For instance they seemed to know which shutter to pry open, what time to enter and just where to go. A gentleman going down to his business about five in the morning saw a man sitting in the park in the square and as soon as the fellow caught sight of Jerry Sweeney he ran away. At five Mr. Sweeney came around and found everything looking all right in the rear of the store, the shutters closed and the door fastened.

There is absolutely no clew to the identity of the rascals unless the marks of a greasy hand can be called such. The matter was at once reported to the chief of police and he immediately notified a number of cities in various places, sending them descriptions of the goods taken.

Of course it is hard to say just what the loss is but the firm places the estimate at about $500.

In order to facilitate the work of the detectives Mr. Montgomery prepared the following estimate of the principal articles taken while there may have been some others.

Five dozen 16 button silk gloves, white and colors.

Five dozen black and white 12 button silk gloves.

The gloves are marked "Tasma" and most of them have the letters "M. & D." printed in the band. All gloves are of the "Tasma" make.

Six lengths China silk in white, cream, ivory, green, red and yellow.

Two lot length 18 inch black taffeta and one length black satin.

One length each of old rose, white, Copenhagen and blue brocade.

Two pieces of black and white serge.

One piece of wine silk serge.

One length of navy taffeta and one length of purple.

Samples for identification were attached to the papers in which the silks were wrapped.

Dance at Socialist hall Monday night, given by Blind Boys' five-piece orchestra—drums, violin, piano and clarinet. Illinois male quartet will sing. Admission, 25c per couple. Ladies free.

THE WATER QUESTION SETTLED. The one momentous question before the city of Jacksonville is that of water and now it can be reported as settled—as far as the Grand Laundry is concerned. No filth, no disease germs, no unsanitary water used. For years the Grand Laundry has had its own immense, never failing, well of pure water on its own premises and absolutely all the water used at the laundry comes from it, so that all who are particular about the sanitary condition of the water used for their washing may feel perfectly safe when they send their clothes to the Grand Laundry.

As all know, without plenty of good, pure water it is difficult and unsatisfactory to undertake to do sanitary and satisfactory laundry work, but at this place no such trouble exists.

MR. BROWN'S LIFE AND WORK.

Mr. Brown was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wiley Brown of this city and this has practically been his residence all his life. His father was a carpenter and prominent in Odd Fellow circles and was a man of strict integrity and greatly respected. He was one of the very early members of Illinois lodge and Ridgely Encampment and was faithful member as long as he lived. Mr. Brown's mother was a very superior woman.

Mr. Brown attended the public schools of this city and went partly through the high school. After that he spent a while in Kansas City and returning was employed on the farm by John B. Joy of Joy Prairie. He had ever shown an aptness for mathematics and all kinds of engineering so to fit himself for a profession in that direction he entered Illinois college which he attended for a time and then went to Purdue state university at Lafayette, Indiana where he graduated in the electrical engineering department. The manager then offered him a position on the faculty as he manifested superior ability in his line but he declined and secured a position as constructing engineer for a company engaged in manufacturing electric light plants.

As an evidence of his remarkable ability he was sent to a certain town to install a plant which an agent had sold. He examined the plans and specifications and reported to the house that there was something wrong. The firm then hired him rather testily that they hadn't hired him to teach them and ordered him to go ahead. He replied that he had a reputation to make and could not afford to risk it in that way. The house replied that he could obey orders or resign and he at once chose the latter alternative and sometime later he had the fine revenge of being employed to go to that very place and correct the mistakes he had pointed out.

He was shortly afterward employed as constructing engineer in this city at a time when the municipal plant was decided and he prepared the plans and specifications for that and several experienced engineers pronounced them the best they had ever seen and when the plant was finished the details had been so carefully guarded that there was only some $300 needed for extras. He also devised the entire steam plant and that has been pronounced a superior piece of work.

Not satisfied with his superior attainments as an electric engineer he turned his attention to steam, machinery and civil engineering and in all he excelled. He also made a careful study of many other practical subjects and all of them he fully mastered. He was an authority known largely all over the state. Many exceedingly difficult pieces of civil engineering entrusted to him were carried to perfection, notably the straightening of Indian creek, work of drainage about the river bottoms and many others.

At Nichols park the lake spillway had been a perpetual source of annoyance and expense and the whole lake was about to be lost in consequence of its condition. Mr. Brown said there was a certain mathematical curve proper for such structures and the work being placed in his hands it was put into shape for all time. He managed the first strictly first class brick pavement in the city, the one about the square, and set the pace for others. It was freely admitted that the city light plant was a superior piece of work and its efficiency was well maintained till pressure brought to bear on various city councils caused them to overload the works with too many lights much to the detriment of the plant.

For some years Mr. Brown was employed as city engineer of the light plant but his talents found other fields in various other lines. He overhauled and put in fine shape the city pumping plant and successfully devised steam heating and ventilating for large buildings and various other useful things.

His talents were too great to permit him to remain the employee of others so he resigned his place with the city and opened an office as consulting engineer and his business was rapidly growing. He was sought far and wide for his superior skill and advice and he was daily growing in popularity and reputation. His loss to the city will be irreparable for who will be able to take his place?

A year ago many friends and well wishers of the city urged him to become a candidate for commissioner and he consented and was nominated and elected by a large majority and his conduct of his department has shown the wisdom of the voters who put him in office.

While he was a student at Lafayette, Indiana, he met Miss Esta Thompson, to whom he was married later. She was the mother of a daughter, Esta Jr. A few years of wedded happiness was theirs and then Mrs. Brown was called home. A few years later Mr. Brown was married to Miss Nellie Hill who survives him. In addition to his wife and little daughter he leaves a brother, James W. of this city, another brother in Iowa and a sister, Mrs. Naomi Lindsay, living in Missouri. His parents died many years ago.

He was a member of Trinity Episcopal church and no one of the city was more highly respected; he had a kind word for every one and hatred and revenge had no place in his character. He was generous to a fault and thought far more of the welfare of his patrons and employees than of his own. He was an indefatigable worker and accomplished a prodigious amount of labor. He was called on so constantly that his time was always fully occupied and only his wonderful ability enabled him to meet his many pressing engagements.

Lives There a Woman with a Soul so Dead Who Does Not Want Nice Hair on her Head?

—HERPICIDE.

Certainly not! Every woman admires beautiful hair and wants it. Every woman can have nice hair. Not the kind that may be purchased at the store but real live hair growing on her own head. There is nothing adds so much to woman's charm as a nice head of natural fluffy hair. It is not difficult to have nice hair. If not interfered with the hair will grow long and luxuriantly.

The most destructive and most prevalent form of hair trouble is dandruff. Herpicide kills the germ which causes this annoying accumulation, keeps the scalp clean and prevents the hair from falling out. This allows the follicles not already atrophied to spring into life, shooting forth from tiny dormant papilla new healthy hair.

You experience marvelous benefit from the first application. The terrible itching, which is indicative of dandruff stops at once. The hair becomes glossy and lustrous with a beauty that always indicates a clean scalp. More men and women have gotten positive results from the use of Newbro's Herpicide than from all other remedies combined. Why then court possible disappointments by using an off brand hair remedy when you can just as easily and cheaply have Herpicide, the Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer? It makes all hair beautiful.

The Herpicide Co., Dept. 81B, Detroit, Michigan.

will, upon receipt of Ten Cents in postage or silver send a sample bottle and valuable pamphlet about the hair to any address.

Herpicide in 50 cents and $1.00 sizes may be found at all toilet goods counters. Ask your own dealer for it. If you are not satisfied he will refund your money. Applications obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.
